Stakeholder Interview Transcript

Enterprise: Mentoring Division — Center for Student Affairs (CSA), University of Asia and the Pacific (UA&P)
Stakeholder / Interviewee: Dr. Olmos (Mentoring Coordinator & Faculty Mentor, School of Sciences and Engineering [SSE])
Project: Enterprise Architecture Conceptual Solution (Academic Case Study)
Interviewers / Student Architects:

- Student 1 (Emmanuel "Em" Velasco)
- Student 2 (Deejay Clark "Clark" Datu)
- Student 3 (Aldrin Paltao – Lead Interviewer for this session)

Verbatim Interview Transcript

[00:00] Student 1: ...that they can implement to improve their current processes. Now, uh, this is part of our Solution Architecture...
[00:07] Dr. Olmos: This is a subject? It's a subject.
[00:09] Student 1: Yes, Solution Architecture class, which is handled by Sir Pira. And he recommended us to try focusing naman (on the other hand) from the perspective of the mentoring coordinators and mentors.
[00:21] Dr. Olmos: But all the other projects, are within the school, or also outside?
[00:26] Student 1: Some are within and some are outside.
[00:29] Dr. Olmos: So your names are, you're...?
[00:31] Student 2: I'm Clark po (sir).
[00:32] Dr. Olmos: Clark.
[00:33] Student 1: And I'm Em po (sir).
[00:34] Dr. Olmos: Em. Okay. So, uh, let's see.
[00:39] Student 3: So before we start po (sir), uh, maybe we record this session?
[00:44] Dr. Olmos: Okay lang. Sige, okay lang. (It's okay. Go ahead, it's okay.)
[00:46] Student 1: Sige po. Salamat po. (All right, sir. Thank you, sir.)

[00:47] Dr. Olmos: Yeah, but before that, because I was part of the... there was a, with Dr... the one in PE now, si (it's) Dr... who's the head of PE now, the chairman, si...? (it's...?)
[01:05] Student 1: Uh, we don't know, sir.
[01:07] Dr. Olmos: You don't know. Uh... there etc. to streamline 'yung ano, 'yung (the what, the) about the how to get the mentors, mentees, etc. This was done last year, but then now she's moved to ano (another unit), but... and then there were like the roles of the mentoring coordinators, and then the mentors, and what to do, how to... But it's a whole, ano, flow sheet. Did they give you that flow sheet?
[01:36] Student 1: Uh, no po (sir).
[01:36] Student 3: No.
[01:37] Student 1: Uh, what they have informed us is the that the, at least parang like (like) a surface level of their current processes. The OSM prepares the list of approved mentors, tapos (then) they give it that that list to the corresponding schools, then the schools have their own processes for making the mentor-student pairings.
[01:55] Dr. Olmos: Okay, sige, sige (okay, okay), you may start recording, but don't quote me... You'll quote me, because ako lang naman nandito (I'm the only one here). But anyways, so...
[02:05] Student 3: So, uh, first of all po (sir), could you briefly tell us about your role as a mentoring coordinator?
[02:12] Dr. Olmos: So the, uh, every school, they appoint, uh, someone, one male staff or faculty, and one female staff. The male will be the ones to take care of getting new, uh, mentors maybe, or, uh, yeah, facilitating the application of, uh, new mentors, or maybe... and then also, uh, pairing, doing the pairing. Parang (Like) it's the... So, like me, I'm the SSE male coordinator for male students. So for instance, I, you can blame me for distributing you, assigning you to this mentor, etc.
[02:56] Student 3: So separated po (sir) per gender?
[02:58] Dr. Olmos: Oo, oo. (Yes, yes.) So then Dr. Eva... uh, Eva... Dr. Eva Rodriguez, but she's... I think she's... basta she's a bit... (anyway she's a bit...) So it was Dr. Torre who did the distribution, uh, assigning of the female SSE students to their corresponding female mentors, SSE mentors. So...
[03:24] Student 3: Quick question, uh, mentor din po ba kayo? (are you also a mentor, sir?)
[03:27] Dr. Olmos: Yes, yes, I am also a mentor. Usually, oo, gano'n. (yes, like that.) So, ayun. (there.) So we do the pairing...
[03:37] Student 3: Uh, how... how long have you been a coordinator po (sir)?

[03:42] Dr. Olmos: Um, now, I I don't recall how long. (Laughter) But when I, uh... um... maybe I have always been the one. Maybe I've always been the one when when SSE... because as soon as I was here, I am already a mentor. So, maybe... I don't know the exact year, but, uh, I was full-time here in when, uh... 2008. 2008. Previous to that, I was part-time, but then there was a lull. I was part-time for four years, teaching math. And then, but there were like two years I did not teach here either because I was finishing the dissertation. And then as soon as I finished that, by 2008 June, I was full-time, and probably I was handling, I was maybe the coordinator, maybe. But I was a mentor.
[04:52] Student 3: So, how many mentees do you have po (sir) currently?
[04:55] Dr. Olmos: Oh, how many mentees? So, originally, parang (like) 26, but then one faculty, uh, resigned, although he continues to teach online. Uh, so there are like eight mentees assigned to him. So OSM said that, um, fit maybe to have them distributed. So I got four of them, the other four distributed to other mentees. So all in all, maybe 32, I don't know, something like that.
[05:27] Student 3: So, why do you take part in the Mentoring Program as a coordinator and as a mentor?
[05:32] Dr. Olmos: So first is that, uh, well, you look back, mentoring has always been part of, well, CRC and then now the University of Asia and the Pacific. It's it's it's as old as, you know, when they started, because, you know, holistic formation. So, if you talk of holistic formation, you cannot remove, uh, the one-on-one conversation between, say, a faculty or staff and a student, because this is where, uh, real things, uh, are initiated, you you are able to motivate the student, and things like this. Because if you just rely in the classroom, how can a student bring up something personal in a classroom situation? That's impossible. So the only way is to to have some kind of a mentoring. So you you bring up, because in mentoring, you bring up anything under the sun! Anything under the sun.
So, not just academic. It can be family, personal, social issues, or maybe something about the school or what. So you can clarify this with the mentor. The mentor, hindi naman ibig sabihin (it doesn't mean) they are all-knowing. So they cannot, uh, help you in all your academics, but you imagine that they are like a person who is much older than you, who had more experience, and therefore they can help you out. They can help the student regarding this and that. And as you know, everything brought up in the mentoring is confidential. So you see that the mentee should be, well, take advantage of that to, you know... And, you know, the mentor cannot cannot talk about what was discussed in the mentoring session, unless the mentee allows him or her. You you cannot, you know.
So, so here is a... Now you might argue, "Ah, I can just, uh, you know, I'll just use Gemini, ChatGPT, if I have some personal problems." Okay, it is true, but you will only get generic, and maybe hallucinated, you know, and then... but but nothing can replace an actual person there, who listens to you, empathizes with you, and etc., that AI can cannot do that. So I, with all of this, I I like that, uh, I like that thing. I want to be involved in in the holistic formation of the students. This school has been inspired by the teachings of St. Josemaría Escrivá, and and and he himself, uh, was was was seeing this, no, this, you know, person-to-person, one-on-one, uh, mentoring, you know. But you call it by other names: chats. So that this is part of the formation. So in a university like this, who are, um, inspired by St. Josemaría, so this is what we're trying to do. This is why I want to be, uh, also involved in that, because I like what is being done here, and, uh, I like being involved in helping the formation of students.

[08:45] Student 3: So you apply for it voluntarily po, or how does it work po? (sir, or how does it work, sir?)

[08:49] Dr. Olmos: Um, when I came in, already, uh, nowadays, you see, nowadays, when there's a new teacher who's going to apply, one of the things that the they will have to look at is the possibility of him or her becoming a mentor, because in principle, in principle, uh, all faculty, at least full-time faculty, and maybe some, should be able to do mentoring, because that is really part and parcel of educating students. Meaning, of course, each one will have, okay, 'yung mga, 'yung (the, the) availability issues, etc., but nonetheless, that is one criteria that they have. Maybe not immediately. Here's a new, uh, a faculty, okay, wala pang (not yet) one year old, etc., but already, at the back of the head of those people in OpCom, those who will study his or her case to accept, parang (like) they already... they they have to see the possibility of this faculty becoming a mentor. Kasi kung hindi (Because if not), we cannot have many faculty na (that), but they will not be available for as a mentor. So how are we going to fulfill the holistic formation? Because we will be needing, with the passing time, we will continue needing more and more mentors if we're going to increase the student population, and also, maybe some faculty cannot handle so many, so you you would need additional.

[10:21] Student 1: How would you define, uh, holistic formation?

[10:24] Dr. Olmos: Holistic... Dapat (Supposedly) you should know this, eh. Anyway, you can see the mission, vision, thing. So it is there. Holistic is simply to address everything, so that there's true personal development, total personal development. So 'pag sinabing (when you say) holistic, hindi lang (not only) academic. So this is what we are just after. It's not just after giving you your major courses in IT, and that's it, and you're a graduate and you can work anywhere. Medyo hilaw 'yon (That's a bit premature/underdeveloped), if it's like that. This university wants that every single graduate, when they graduate from here, will have the basic professional training in the curriculum, and then on top of that, you have, uh, you have been, uh, doctrinally formed. This is where your theology comes in, your three theologies. All the students in UA&P take three theology. Then you have the three philosophy. This is your liberal education program, the three philosophy subjects. CHED, uh, in their the CHED, there is an elective, one of the required elective is the Understanding of Self. That Understanding of Self is the equivalent here, it is your PhiloAnthro, your philosophy, the first philosophy. That's the the equivalent of the, uh, Understanding of Self. But here, you have two more philosophy subjects: the one of, uh, Ethics of a Person, very important, morality, and then Ethics of a Group or a Family. So you're all required. You you all you all take that. But PhiloAnthro is the prereq (prerequisite) of of these two. So with the theology... So, see, see, every student here will get a very good grounding on on doctrine. You might ask, "How about a Muslim student and these other ones?" No problem, so they they will still have to pass the the subjects, they will have to... but they go through it, and it's up to them, nobody will be forced to become, say, a Catholic or what, but still, in a way, they will be exposed to what we believe is is the complete truth, no? The the basis, the reference of the three theology, for instance, is the Catechism of the Catholic Church. You cut it into three parts: the first part, Creed, etc.

So, um, so 'yun (that's it), holistic, and then personal. So you have the... that's why they foster joining organizations, extracurricular, because there are many things you cannot learn in the classroom. For instance, collaboration with other people. Well, yeah, sometimes there's group work, but sometimes one of the best place to to learn this, how to collaborate with others, is to join an organization, and together you, okay, you you finish a project, you do this and that in the corps team. Sometimes you fail, but that's part of it. And then, human relations. The school is small, but thanks to that, you are able to meet more in a short period of time, and you get to interact with different people, different personalities, unlike, say, in UP where I came from, where the campus is so big, so my class is in this building, my next class maybe is two blocks away, I will have to run there and alone, and walk there, and then another. So, but here, you just walk a little bit and then and you are already, uh, interacting with many other students. Small, but it it fosters many other human relations that you will need later on.

So once you graduate, plus the dress code is part of it! The dress code! You might think, "Strict naman nitong dress code na 'to." ("This dress code is so strict.") But actually, the dress code is already preparing you to be, in a few years, in your case next year, to to be a professional. You already know how to be in formal attire, business formal, business casual. Hindi 'yung parang parang fake na fake na (It's not like seemingly very fake that) only after graduation will you learn how to be formal. Masyadong halata tayo, fake ito. (We'd be too obvious, this is fake.) And then you, uh, yeah, you you are required to, because you have to do a presentation, so it's the normal thing when you start working. And the clothes that you have now, many times they can be the ones you can use when you start working, so nothing is lost, walang problema. (no problem.)

Also, besides that, the university every now and then will have seminars attended by diplomats, bank executives, etc., and you will be there with them in the elevator! Can you imagine if a student is there with 'yung 'yung (the, the) air-conditioned pants, no? Maraming sira, 'yung (Lots of tears/rips, the) T-shirt with all the graphics there, naka-tsinelas (wearing slippers), and then they're taking the elevator with top executives. So, anong dating sa top executive? (So, how does that look to the top executive?) Parang, "Is this place, exact... is supposed to be a place for..." You see, you dress at a... as a... as a... in such a way that you maintain a certain business-like culture, corporate culture. So it's good for everyone. So you get to learn also. So we maintain a certain culture that will be... this is something that you will also see in many multinational companies. So even that alone is already a training for the students. When you have to apply and you're working, you see their air-conditioned thing, but you're used to it. You have a business lounge, this is... So, holistic, meaning total: mental, spiritual, human, doctrinal, social, professional, of course academic. All of that aspects, this university is doing its best to provide to every single student. Mentoring is very important. Yeah.
[16:13] Student 3: Moving on po (sir), could you walk us through a typical semester of mentoring, 'yung (the one) prior to the three session policy?
[16:20] Dr. Olmos: Three session? Okay. Uh... last year, just for your info, maybe probably you, if you took a math subject last year, did you take a math subject last year?
[16:34] Student 1: Stats.
[16:35] Dr. Olmos: Stats, okay, ganon, 'di ba? (like that, right?) So, and then, one of the requirements there of the subject, we had to write a short, ano, your expectations, 'di ba? (right?) Do you remember?
[16:44] Student 1: Yeah.
[16:45] Dr. Olmos: Expectations? Then you have to discuss with your mentor, and the mentor should sign it? Do you remember? So it's a requirement, ganon, ganon. (like that, like that.) So, uh... Now, that initiative is from the SSE only, with the idea to... Well, because in that meeting, uh, with, uh, yeah, in CSA, someone was involved in, this came out. What we have to... Mentoring has been there, but for some reason or another, uh, many students still are not taking advantage. And maybe because, not not exactly their fault, but maybe because the university has to, uh, continue explaining this further: What can they get? Why mentoring? Because, especially kung (if) freshmen, once the freshmen, for instance, are able to know what mentoring is and they go through it, then it's easier for them when they're second year, third year, fourth year. But if during their first year, they did not exactly get what mentoring is all about, so we should not be surprised when second year, third year, "Ay, survived my first year, okay lang naman pala, eh. Mentoring is not..." ("Oh, survived my first year, it turns out it was just okay. Mentoring is not...") Because you will not be forced. You are encouraged on your upper class. But sa (for) freshmen, as much as possible, like, they should see their their, uh, their mentors. Okay?

So, so 'yung tanong mo na... (so your question that...)

[18:10] Student 1: What is holistic development?

[18:12] Dr. Olmos: Hindi, 'yung sumunod dito, 'yung... (No, the one following this, the...) Aldrin, ano 'yung tinanong mo? 'Yung... Ano 'yung tinanong mo, 'yung...? (Aldrin, what was it you asked? The... What was it you asked, the...?)

[18:20] Student 3: Wala. (None.)

[18:21] Dr. Olmos: 'Yung just now, ano 'yung tinanong mo? (The one just now, what did you ask?)

[18:23] Student 3: Walk us through a typical...

[18:25] Dr. Olmos: Ah yeah, 'yung (the) typical semester, so before the... So, nung ano, eh 'di (during that time, so then) I I am assigned so many, uh, mentees. My goal was, because it's not very easy to get, now, is to at least get to meet them at least once in the semester. So, you can imagine the the typical thing, 'yung (the) schedule, the schedule, etc. In fact, I intentionally preferred those who will be my students, or, that's why most of my mentees are IE students. I used to be the program director for that until I retired, uh, December 2024. So nakaka, two to three years na, uh, continuing here as a part-time. But, uh, so before, so I would, uh, schedule them, okay, so we can meet, etc. But, but actually, even though I will meet them maybe once, but I interact with them kasi (because) they are mostly my students. So most of the male IE students are are were my mentees, if they graduated. And, uh, I wanted really to get to know them not just from the subject, but as far as possible.

So, so that so it was not that successful. And as I was saying, last year, so the SSE decided to, let's put a little academic requirement in meeting, this the the the mentee meeting the mentor at least once. So, so the idea was, all those taking math, heto (here), submit a expectation, what do you expect from this subject, and then discuss that with your mentor, and then submit that with the mentor signing it. How about the non-SSE students taking, uh, attending that Math in the Modern World or whatever? Okay, they will also have to do it. So parang (like) collateral, not exact collateral damage, so they will also have to write an expectation, and they have to contact their mentor. They've met him, and I was asked, "Sir, this is a requirement in my math subject, and..." Okay, so sige (all right), maybe the mentor will be happy for that, because maybe he or she was also trying to make a, uh, schedule, schedule a session. And and here, okay, hulog ng langit, so here the the mentee, miracle of miracle, already asking for a schedule. (a godsend, so here the mentee, miracle of miracle, already asking for a schedule.)

So, it it was okay. And then, uh, then we continue that ngayon (now). But then now, OSM came up with this, which is, okay, because they said this is there in the mission, vision, it is it is there, holistic, precisely, this is their basis. And mentoring, therefore, should be something that we should try to make them do, by putting a minimum, because otherwise, then if some student graduate without even a single mentoring, I don't know if we can say that we managed to give a holistic formation to that student. Kayo, do you think...? Maybe, maybe not, okay. But, uh, but we want some assurance or some, okay... So since mentoring is something institutionalized in this university, maybe we're the only university that this thing is institutionalized, you cannot easily ask UP, for instance, Ateneo, "Let's have mentoring institutionalized." It is not possible, it's not easy, with all the the teachers, because you will have to, quote-unquote, "train" them. And then the students also, are they...? Maybe they can do that in small groups or in this particular school, but to do that entirely for Ateneo...?

Listen, but UA&P, because CRC when it was still small, it was being done with professionals taking master's in applied economics, etc. And then later on, as it grows, it continues with that: meeting individual students for their to provide precisely a holistic accompaniment, spiritual accompaniment, as they say, no? So now, uh, ginawang ganito (it was made like this), you might ask, "Masyadong strict naman, ngayon mayro'n nang (Too strict, now there is already a) requirement, if you don't fulfill the three, you will not be allowed to to, uh, to enroll next sem." And what is the basis of that? "Ano ba 'yan, nag-pay naman ako, ah?" ("What is that, I paid anyway, right?") Holistic formation! We want to to implement this thing, and it's always been there. It's not something new, it's just that we we are not getting the students to to use their mentoring or what, so might as well do it this way.

And then the period that was mentioned is just to give an idea, but it it's not strictly... So, 'di ba (right), from opening to September 23 should dapat (supposedly) that can be the first, uh, session, then, which is actually just before midterms. If you look at it, it was timed just before midterms, so it's good to to talk to the mentor, uh, so how's things, and so the... And then, immediately after the the midterm until November 7, which is you are approaching already the finals. So, after the midterm, before the finals, it could be a good period for mentoring as well. We can talk about what happened, anong nangyari sa midterm (what happened in the midterm), and therefore you're approaching the second half already. So it's crucial if you are not doing well, so... And then, the last one will be, uh, ano na, 'yun, 'yung parang ending na, 'no? (what already, that, the one like ending already, right?) So, the end endgame na. (already.) But this is not, as you know, it's not very strict because you can schedule it out. Besides, medyo late na nga na ano 'yon, eh. (it was actually a bit late when that was released, you see.)

So with this, I am able to already meet several also, and then me me like already they know na (that) we have to schedule another one. So I know one IT student already we met second time already, just the other day. Fourth year, I'm not sure.

[24:22] Student 1: We don't know who.

[24:23] Dr. Olmos: You don't know who, so... So anyway...

[24:27] Student 3: Also to follow up lang, how do you usually communicate with OSM? (Also to follow up only, how do you usually communicate with OSM?)

[24:31] Dr. Olmos: Uh, with OSM? Uh, usually OSM, by email lang 'yun. (only, that's it.) Usually. And then, mainly alam ko na naman, basta (I already know anyway, as long as) in the beginning of the semester... So heto na. (here it is.) This is the the usual problem. So, what is done is, uh, the new school year, already I have to prepare the pairing, but then wala pa 'yung (there's still no) final list of students. So ang nangyayari (what happens) is, I have the old list, I will remove those who graduated, because I have a a copy of the graduation, uh, program. So, erase 'to, erase 'to, do'n sa SSE, ganyan, ganyan. (erase this, erase this, there in SSE, like that, like that.) So I'm left with the ano. (what.) So in principle, in principle, you the student remain with their previous mentor for this coming school year, unless the student or the mentor, either, would like some changes to be done. Usually, konti, mga two, three lang, gano'n. (Usually, a few, around two, three only, like that.) But otherwise, wala namang problema (there's no problem), so they continue to be assigned. So ang ia-assign ko na lang are the incoming freshmen. (So what I'll assign are only the incoming freshmen.) 'Yun 'yung (That's the...) So I would like... So I need the list of incoming freshmen enrolled, so that they can be distributed, uh, to to the the different mentors. 'Yun basically ang nangyayari. (That's basically what happens.)

So, now, kung minsan (sometimes) that final list appears not in within the first week of school, kung minsan (sometimes) a little bit later, kasi may mga parang (because there are like) late enrollees. Kaya (That's why) even if I came up with already a pairing within the first week, I made another version, and then another version. Ito (This) is because mayro'n yatang (there were seemingly) two students na hindi kasama do'n sa (that were not included in the) original list, maybe late enrollee, and then this other one, they requested for a change.

[26:17] Student 3: A question lang po (only, sir), kanino niyo po natatanggap 'yung list of, uh, fresh-... (from whom do you receive the list of, uh, fresh-...)
[00:26:23] Student 2: That's Registrar.
[26:24] Dr. Olmos: Actually dapat (supposedly) from the Registrar. So dapat kung (supposedly if) the the best thing is that, uh, kung (if) maybe the Registrar cannot send it directly to the mentoring coordinator, because there are several of them, the easiest is, give it to OSM, as soon as ano (what), and then OSM sending it to the to the mentor coordinator. Kasi kaysa (Because rather than) there are several different schools, you have male, female. Kung Registrar (If the Registrar) will have to send it to them, hindi ano 'yan, it's not practical. (that's not, it's not practical.) So maybe the best is this one.
So ang nangyari (what happened), as soon as I got the final final, even in that final, mayro'n pang isang late, but kilala ko 'yun, kasi student ko, 'no? (there was still one late, but I know him, because he's my student, right?) Dinagdag ko na, kasi in that final final, wala pa siya do'n, pero late and, but as in late talaga, beyond the ano, but... (I already added him, because in that final final, he wasn't there yet, but late and, but as in really late, beyond the what, but...) But that's why he had to request for an endorsement from the PD: Are you still going to accept this guy? Okay, yes. But 'yung class, subject niya, hindi siya, puro mga major subject lang 'yung in-allow niya. (the class, his subject, it wasn't, only purely major subjects were what he was allowed.) But that's, at least, naka-enroll siya. (he was able to enroll.) He had reasons why late 'yung ano niya, family reasons. (his enrollment was late, family reasons.) So, with that final ano, 'no, na-distribute ko. (with that final what, right, I distributed it.)
[27:34] Student 1: Uh, if I may ask, what is the basis for the mentor-student pairings?
[27:39] Dr. Olmos: Uh-huh. In principle, uh, ako, meron akong personal, ano, (me, I have a personal, what,) because as I said, I wanted all the IE to to handle them, all the IE boys. Boys. So that's one. Other than that, well, kung IT, siyempre (if IT, of course), I would try to assign them to IT faculty whenever possible. But you see, each faculty can only handle so much. Sometimes they also handle some Junior... Junior, JC students. May mga gano'n, eh. (There are cases like that.) In fact, some schools, like the School of Management, kapos sila, kulang sila actually ng mentors sa dami ng student. (they fall short, they actually lack mentors because of the sheer number of students.) Kaya (That's why), strictly speaking, there were years na (that) some students, they don't have any mentor. So possible. So that's bad enough actually, to to to talk of holistic formation, and then we offer this, but none could be assigned to them, kulang. (lacking.) So they they would ask mentors from other schools if they can be accommodated. Mayro'ng case na gano'n (There are cases like that), but I don't know if they are able to to really assign all the School of Management students, kasi ang dami nila. (because there's so many of them.)

[28:55] Student 1: So there were instances, uh, currently and in the past, na may students na walang mentors? (that there are students without mentors?)

[29:02] Dr. Olmos: Not because they, ano... sometimes it's choice yata no'ng student din kung minsan, eh. (it's seemingly the choice of the student as well sometimes.) Kung minsan, may gano'n. (Sometimes, there's that.) Because as I said, the university is committed to, ano, to... You cannot force. But you see, kung nung (if during the) during their freshman, they got it, it is not... it will not be very... it will be very difficult to imagine that they would not like it anymore. So kung sa beginning pa, kinapos or what, or with all the schedule and everything, you can imagine na maraming (that many) things, many many things happen in their freshmen, and they're also adjusting. But maybe in the FreshStart, kaya 'yun lumabas din 'yun do'n sa meeting, as I was talking about, to study the whole mentoring thing, how it can be... The whole idea is to how to make it better, to reach everyone. So one of the things that came out there was to, in the FreshStart, let's put more input into the mentoring. Hindi 'yung parang sinabi lang. (Not just like casually mentioning it.) The the the only problem is there, is not all freshmen attend that. Mayro'ng... (There are...) maybe they attend only the one with the parents, parent orientation. So, but they did something, I think, during the FreshStart, uh, because we said, maybe, uh, maybe even suggested to act it out, you know, this kind of thing, to make use of media to to bring out what... what mentoring is all about.

So, maybe it it... because I was asking the freshmen, because I handle some freshmen, and yeah, they this one attended the FreshStart, and yeah, they heard about it, etc. But it's requirement, so... But then, conscious sila do'n, so... (they are conscious of that, so...) Okay. (Laughter) But, uh, ayun. (there.)

[30:56] Student 3: So, when a student asks for a mentor change, sino po 'yung, ano po 'yung nangyayari sa side niyo as a coordinator? (who is, what happens on your side as a coordinator?)

[31:03] Dr. Olmos: As a coordinator, maaring (it could be), I think OSM... they can either approach OSM... Siguro (Maybe), I don't know, in your portal, if you have things, ano, 'di ba? (what, right?) I suppose you can contact OSM. The other way is, they can contact the mentoring coordinator, if they know, or whatever, or whatever. So maybe they just go here, people from OpCom. But I think dito, alam naman nila, eh. (here, they know anyway.) In any case, they can always go to OSM: "Look,

I... nag-away kami no'ng mentor namin (my mentor and I had a fight), so can we... can I..." (laughter) "or I don't want, uh, ganon (like that), or I want a bit of change, and ano..." (what...) Okay, so and then, it is relayed to me. And then ako (me), immediately, I try to see. Sometimes, I absorb them, kasi (because) I know ano na, 'yung medyo, ano, but... (already, what, somewhat, what, but...) so many already, but, okay, I, uh... So, then I will immediately inform the, uh, OSM na, "Okay, I the following can be assigned to this guy."

'Yung isa (The other one), because already he shifted, eh. He used to be in another school, he shifted here na. (already.) So, kaya nag-request siya na kung pwede, uh, yeah, so no problem. (that's why he requested if possible, uh, yeah, so no problem.) So 'yun lang. (that's all.) And then, the OSM will inform the student, and the mentors, siguro kung ano, na... Ako, kung (maybe if what, that... Me, if) I inform the mentor, "Two students will be added to you, because this came from so-and-so who resigned, etc." And then this other one also, merong isang faculty dito na hindi na siya full-time, but part-time because he resigned, he is... but he continues to teach, uh, Saturday. Si Doc... hindi niyo inabutan, no, si Dr. Barzolo, 'yung IE, used to be the PD for IE, so, but then, he resigned October 1, effective, he's now with another university. (there is one faculty here that is no longer full-time, but part-time because he resigned, he is... but he continues to teach, uh, Saturday. Doc... you didn't catch him, right, Dr. Barzolo, the IE, used to be the PD for IE, so, but then, he resigned October 1, effective, he's now with another university.) So may assigned mentees siya at the beginning of the school year. (So he had assigned mentees at the beginning of the school year.) So I got, uh, four of them out of the eight, and then distributed to other, to other two. Um, so 'yon, 'yun 'yun. (so that's it, that's that.)

So, ayon, there there are two basic two channels. Uh, because usually, they will not mention to the mentor, "Look, I'm thinking of changing you." (Laughter) That is the last thing, okay? So, or, yeah, maybe the best is, "Okay, go to OSM," 'di ba? (right?) So dapat (supposedly) clear 'yon (that) somewhere in the portal na if there are things, issues of changing, or what, they go to OSM if if they cannot reach... Kasi ang OSM, tapat lang naman, eh. (Because OSM is just right across.) They know the office, so they will just, "This is mine..." Kasi 'yung (Because the) mentor coordinator, maybe it's not easy to to locate them, so maybe... But, uh, maybe it can be, but OSM is is is the best, and then OSM will take care of relaying, so, "Ma'am, Sir, one student, okay, here is requesting for a change," ganyan. (like that.)

[34:05] Student 3: Usually po, gaano katagal 'yung process no'ng pagpalit? (Usually, sir, how long does the replacement process take?)

[34:08] Dr. Olmos: Pagpalit? (Replacement?) Sa akin, titignan ko lang and then, ano, maybe within two days, na-inform ko na 'yung ano. (For me, I'll just look at it and then, what, maybe within two days, I've already informed the what.) So kung minsan, hindi naman matagal. (So sometimes, it doesn't take long.) Like kanina, I'm I'm going to absorb the four, and then already, and then the other two, pero kinontak ko na, okay naman, willing naman to receive two, the other one two, so solved na 'yung eight. (Like earlier, I'm I'm going to absorb the four, and then already, and then the other two, but I already contacted them, it was okay, willing anyway to receive two, the other one two, so the eight are solved.)
[34:31] Student 3: Okay. So what frustrates you more about the program right now? Ano 'yung mga pain points na na-experience niyo, both a mentor and being a coordinator? (What are the pain points that you experience, both a mentor and being a coordinator?)
[34:41] Dr. Olmos: Wala naman akong pain... (I don't really have any pain...) (Laughter) Wala naman. (None really.) So because, um, ang um, ang maybe, I always, parang (like) I... I don't use the word na parang, (that's like,) I pity the mentees not availing of the mentoring. I don't know how to put it. For me, okay, mentoring, okay lang. (it's okay.) Of course, I... So usually, "Sir, when can I, ano...?" ("Sir, when can I, what...?") Kung minsan (Sometimes), the thing I will ask them is, "Send me your class schedule, and I will adjust to it." Okay? So, even just the screenshot of your portal, ano. (what.) So 'yung iba, gano'n ginawa. (So others, that's what they did.) And then, as soon as I get it, maybe within the hour, etc., "Okay, can we meet, uh, this time?" So, so minsan 'yun 'yung (sometimes that's the) problem. And in that meeting that I was telling you, it came out, sabi ko (I said), one of the main things, obstacle, is really the schedule, uh, com-... um, compatibility between the mentor and the mentee. Lagi namang gano'n. (It's always like that.) And I was to the point of saying, I think, as soon as the the schedules are out, etc., we can... this schedule can have to be provided by... at that time, quote-and-quote, Registrar. Although may mga (there are) some are not standard, ano, meaning... So, but strictly speaking, if you're going to... the schedules are there. It's just a matter of giving to the mentors, but maybe, okay, let's say you have 15 mentees, ibig sabihin (meaning) 15 schedules. But, okay, parang (like) it's overwhelm, but it's like this, it will facilitate many things.
So kung alam na nung mentor 'di... Kasi kung minsan ang nangyayari, and it came out with the survey, tatawag daw 'yung mentor sa mentee, walang sagot. (So if the mentor already knows, then... Because sometimes what happens, and it came out with the survey, the mentor reportedly calls the mentee, no answer.) It's possible na the mentee is in class, or what do you expect, kasi may class ako do'n sa ano, eh, kasi mentor is asking, "Can we meet this lunch time?" Eh may class siya, precisely. (It's possible that the mentee is in class, or what do you expect, because I have a class during that, you see, because the mentor is asking, "Can we meet this lunch time?" But he has class, precisely.) So siguro, either, yeah, or what, so already, may block na 'yon, and wala na. Ang lalabas palagi, he did not answer, or the the mentee side naman, nag-contact din sa mentor, "Is it possible to know...?" Kasi 'yung mentor naman, hindi pwede, so parang ano na lang, stalemate na until the semester ends, hindi nagkita, 'di ba? (So maybe, either, yeah, or what, so already, that's blocked already, and that's it. What will always appear, he did not answer, or on the mentee side on the other hand, also contacted the mentor, "Is it possible to know...?" Because the mentor, on the other hand, can't make it, so it's like what, stalemate until the semester ends, didn't meet, right?) So, so ngayon ang pwedeng mangyari (so now what can happen), as I was saying, to reduce that, provide them the, heto 'yung (here are the) mentees, may schedule naman 'yan (they have a schedule anyway), provide them with the schedules. Oh, so 'pag 'yung mentor kita agad niya, (so when the mentor sees it immediately,) "Uh, I'm going to invite this student for in this time kasi libre 'yon." ("because that's free.") But, of course, it's possible also... But then, kung gano'n, 'yung hindi rin siya pwede, (if it's like that, that he also can't make it,) etc., kahit na 'yung talagang (even if it's really) impossible possible, maybe siguro (maybe) part-time, okay, then that's the moment the mentor can suggest to them, "There's no way for me to meet this, because talagang conflict, there's no way talagang..." ("really conflict, there's really no way...") May mga ganyan. (There are cases like that.) Okay, then, pero wala naman akong narinig na gano'n, (but I haven't heard of anything like that,) maybe partly because, yeah, walang schedule, ano, (no schedule, what,) etc.

So, the schedule is the one that will facilitate the compatibility. That one single thing is the one, sa akin (for me), will facilitate. Para hindi 'yung nag-email ka, hindi sasagot because, "Wala, eh. I cannot, and then hiya siguro 'to, or the other way around, etc." (So that it's not like you emailed, won't answer because, "Nothing, eh. I cannot, and then maybe this person is shy, or the other way around, etc.") And the faculty, they don't know, parang in broad, what schedule will I... But actually, strictly speaking, the mentor, 'di in-assign na siya, (he was already assigned,) he... kasi binigay naman 'yung email, eh. (because the email was given anyway.) He or she can simply email them: "Please, I'm your mentor, so-and-so. Please give me a copy of your schedule." Tapos! Sa totoo lang! (Done! Honestly!) Even just, in fact, 'yun ang pwedeng gawin. (that's what can be done.) So once the... so they will send, no? Even just the, nothing special, just screenshot the portal, and I have it! Mas maganda, 'no? (Much better, right?)

So once a mentor has, kasi mas madaling mag-adjust kaysa 'yung, parang sa tingin ko, maybe it's more the mentor that, you know, to an extent, adjust to that. Well, the student will also adjust, but, uh, but that will facilitate many things, no? Kasi 'yung teacher naman, hindi naman kasing dami ng subject schedule as the students. Students probably have eight subjects, 'yung teacher maybe three, or what, so... So sa tingin ko, that will facilitate. So 'yun ang ginagawa ko, I ask for the schedule. (Because it's easier to adjust rather than, like in my opinion, maybe it's more the mentor that, you know, to an extent, adjust to that. Well, the student will also adjust, but, uh, but that will facilitate many things, right? Because the teacher, on the other hand, doesn't have as many subject schedules as the students. Students probably have eight subjects, the teacher maybe three, or what, so... So in my opinion, that will facilitate. So that's what I do, I ask for the schedule.)

[39:48] Student 3: Uh, so paano niyo po namomonitor 'yung mentees niyo? 'Yung process po ba no'ng pagiging mentorship or ano? (how do you monitor your mentees, sir? The process of mentorship or what?)
[39:57] Dr. Olmos: Ah, 'yung sa amin? 'Yung me? (the one on our end? The me?) Now, right now, if you you have done your mentoring, may Google Form kayong dapat i-fill up. (you have a Google Form that you should fill up.) Now, as soon as that thing is filled up, uh, it will go to OSM by online, and then it will it goes to the mentor. And then the mentor will review, "Tama ba 'to? (Is this correct?) Okay, ano 'yung topic, wellness, okay, etc., name, etc. Time? Muntik ka, mali yata 'yung time, ha?" (what is the topic, wellness, okay, etc., name, etc. Time? Watch out, the time seems wrong, huh?) So then you click the ano for correction, request for correction. Pero kung tama naman, (But if it's correct anyway,) confirm. Now, 'pag-click ng (upon clicking) confirm, all of a sudden, there is like one required question: "How was the mentoring...?" I'm telling you, how was the mentoring, see? Did... is it passive? Did you... Basta pipiliin 'yon, (Just choose that,) without answering, 'pag hindi sinagot nung mentor, ay hindi hindi magmu-move forward 'yon. So 'yon, then may isang optional, (if the mentor doesn't answer, it won't move forward. So that, then there's an optional one,) and then submit. Only then makaka-count 'yung ano na 'yon, 'pag na-confirm na ng mentor. (will that session be counted, when the mentor confirms it.) Only then will that session be counted.
So, kunwari nagkaroon ako ng mentoring, within 30 minutes, nandun na, finill-up na, kasi nire-remind ko, "Uy, you have to..." "Yes, sir." Ayun. So confirm ko na. So may tinatanong... Sa akin, is success, I don't know, 'yung effective, well makikita mo naman sa mentee, no? "Thank you," ganyan, mga... You know, you um... Sabi ko, tapos na ba tayo? "So, it's okay, is there anything else on your mind, worrying you?" etc. So, meaning to say, at that moment, minsan wala rin masyado ring mga ano, but if you've been meeting him or ano, so medyo alam mo kung okay. (So, for example, I had a mentoring, within 30 minutes, it's there already, filled up already, because I remind them, "Hey, you have to..." "Yes, sir." There. So I confirm it already. So there's a question... For me, is success, I don't know, the effective, well you can see it in the mentee, right? "Thank you," like that, the... You know, you um... I said, are we done? "So, it's okay, is there anything else on your mind, worrying you?" etc. So, meaning to say, at that moment, sometimes there isn't really that much of what, but if you've been meeting him or what, so you somewhat know if he's okay.)

So, 'di ba 'yung tanong mo, (So, right, your question,) how would I know if it is effective? It's a two-way thing. So, uh, okay, the student, now it's student-initiated, so to speak, 'di ba, 'yung (right, the) uh, they, yeah, in a way, no? In terms of recording, but also it's a required thing, so talagang student-initiated na 'to, required, eh. (so this is really student-initiated, it's required, you see.) And then, okay, the mentor will answer, will confirm.
[42:06] Student 3: May instance po ba na 'yung mentor ayaw no'ng i-mentor 'yung student, specific student, or particular student? (Is there an instance, sir, where the mentor doesn't want to mentor the student, specific student, or particular student?)
[42:13] Dr. Olmos: The mentor doesn't want? To mentor? Uh, I'll mention this. So, last year, this mentor, uh, nag-blast yata siya, (he seemingly sent a blast email,) okay, so, "Ganyan, ganyan, let's meet, give me..." Basta. And then, maybe four did not, uh... But in that blast, he said, "If you don't reply, then you..." Parang inano niya na, (Like he somewhat said,) "Uh, you can transfer to another..." parang gano'n. (like that.)
[42:44] Student 3: So it's mostly caused by the students na hindi nagre-reply? (that don't reply?)
[42:48] Dr. Olmos: Uh, maybe you can say that na hindi nag-reply siya. (that he didn't reply.) No, it can be all sorts. Uh, maybe he knew a little bit, no, so, "I personally, I don't want," or maybe the schedule is not possible because may sinasabi siyang schedule, but it's not possible for me, or maybe nahiya siya, and then bahala na, anyway, hindi naman... "I will survive even without a mentor." (he is mentioning a schedule, but it's not possible for me, or maybe he was shy, and then whatever, anyway, it's not like... "I will survive even without a mentor.") That was last year. Eh pero ngayon, required na, mga gano'n. (Eh but now, it's required already, things like that.)
So, uh, so in that sense, binanggit sa akin, uh, halos parang, "I these four did not, uh, no, please assign them to another." Medyo nagulat ako na, bakit gano'n kabilis naman, 'di ba, mag-assign, but anyway, so I I I said... So I I tried to accommodate them, and and yeah, so tried to assign them to another, 'di ba? (So, uh, so in that sense, it was mentioned to me, uh, almost like, "I these four did not, uh, no, please assign them to another." I was a bit surprised that, why was it that fast, right, to reassign, but anyway, so I I I said... So I I tried to accommodate them, and and yeah, so tried to assign them to another, right?)

[43:47] Student 1: Siguro, sir, when the OSM implemented the the new policy, did you notice parang an increase in mentor changes, student requesting for mentor changes? (Maybe, sir, when the OSM implemented the the new policy, did you notice like an increase in mentor changes, student requesting for mentor changes?)
[43:58] Dr. Olmos: At least sa akin, mainly 'yung freshmen, because of, maybe thanks to the, maybe FreshStart, and also siyempre, freshmen sila, talagang they have to make things... But I also have some, 'yung mga students ko, and an older, ano, oo, so, "Yeah, sir, nga, eh." Eh, mas madaling ano, 'yung older, 'yung mga students ko, mas madaling mag mag-arrange, because they're my students, I'm also the the moderator of the Society of Industrial Engineers, officers din 'yung iba, 'di ba? Minsan, I will remind one, "Oh, when are we going to... Mentoring, 'di ba?" "Oo nga, sir." So, then kanina, sinabi ko sa isa, although we've been meeting, "Just send me your ano, your screenshot of the schedule." "Yes, sir." And I will adjust to your ano. (At least on my end, mainly the freshmen, because of, maybe thanks to the, maybe FreshStart, and also of course, they are freshmen, they really have to make things... But I also have some, the students of mine, and an older, what, yes, so, "Yeah, sir, indeed." Well, it's easier to, what, the older, the students of mine, it's easier to to arrange, because they're my students, I'm also the the moderator of the Society of Industrial Engineers, others are officers too, right? Sometimes, I will remind one, "Oh, when are we going to... Mentoring, right?" "Yes, sir." So, then earlier, I told one, although we've been meeting, "Just send me your what, your screenshot of the schedule." "Yes, sir." And I will adjust to your what.)
So in my case, I have some flexibility in that sense, okay, uh, partly because maybe part-time, etc., but but I have some flexibility, so I would rather adjust to the student. And then I try to give them my number para Viber na, kasi email 'yung ano, eh, matagal 'yung email. So I will give them. Kung they were my former student, kung minsan, they already have it, so Viber na lang. And then I told them, "So, next meeting, you can Viber me, and I will always answer. Basta I will answer, and then you you suggest a time. Since I know your schedule, I will tell you kung hindi pwede, why not on this time?" Okay? Kasi alam ko 'yung schedule niya, eh. So or basta I will answer. So, at least gano'n 'yung arrangement ko. Now, I don't know with other mentors. (So in my case, I have some flexibility in that sense, okay, uh, partly because maybe part-time, etc., but but I have some flexibility, so I would rather adjust to the student. And then I try to give them my number so that it's Viber already, because email is, you see, email takes a long time. So I will give them. If they were my former student, sometimes, they already have it, so Viber instead. And then I told them, "So, next meeting, you can Viber me, and I will always answer. As long as I will answer, and then you you suggest a time. Since I know your schedule, I will tell you if it's not possible, why not on this time?"

Okay? Because I know his schedule, you see. So or as long as I will answer. So, at least that's my arrangement. Now, I don't know with other mentors.)
[45:51] Student 1: According to the OSM, if a student does not make any contact with the mentor for several for several years...
[46:00] Dr. Olmos: Oo. (Yes.)
[46:01] Student 1: ...they will be they will be assigned a new mentor.
[46:06] Dr. Olmos: That's right. Oo. (Yes.) Now, look at it this way. So, before this, parang some, maybe two years ago, there is like a mentoring platform, 'di ba? 'Yung ano, 'yung mentoring... What do you call that? (there is like a mentoring platform, right? The what, the mentoring... What do you call that?)
[46:24] Student 1: The mentoring... parang where you report the sessions? (like where you report the sessions?)
[46:25] Dr. Olmos: Yeah, you had there's a folder in the, ano, in the Dragon's Lair. Now, ang kagandahan niyan, (the beauty of that,) but the thing is, heto, dito nahirapan, eh. (this, this is where it was difficult.) This was was, uh, ang nag-develop niyan si Sir Pira, Mr. Pira. But there was a moment, maybe two years ago, nag-malfunction daw 'yan. But I continued using it, kasi ang kaganda-... And some others, and then actually nag-a-add. Pero ang sabi nila, may error. And then they showed me, kasi hindi daw nagtatama 'yon. Now, this error came out because somebody has to update all the students. Kunyari, gumraduate na 'to, so dapat tinatanggal 'yon. And it's not exactly very easy to remove, you have to look for it, and etc., and put 'yung status niya, graduate, or okay, etc., transfer to school. And then, here comes a new one na. So if sino lang 'yung gumagawa no'n, so dati si ano yata, but hindi kayang mag-isa, but I was willing to to also solve those and maybe this, pero can be like can be a little tedious. (the one who developed that was Sir Pira, Mr. Pira. But there was a moment, maybe two years ago, that reportedly malfunctioned. But I continued using it, because the beauty... And some others, and then actually it was adding. But they said, there's an error. And then they showed me, because it allegedly wasn't matching up. Now, this error came out because somebody has to update all the students. For example, this one already graduated, so that should be removed. And it's not exactly very easy to remove, you have to look for it, and etc., and put the status, graduate, or okay, etc., transfer to school. And then, here comes a new one already. So if whoever was the only one doing that, so previously it was seemingly so-and-so, but cannot do it alone, but I was willing to to also solve those and maybe this, but can be like can be a little tedious.)
In any case, I was using it. So wala pa 'yung mga 'yung three required, so after I'm mentoring, I would put there the time, etc., ano pinag-usapan, and I would know, "Oh, I I have met this one," kasi nakalagay do'n. And I would also see the other mentors strictly speaking. 'Yun 'yung gusto ko. (So the three required wasn't there yet, so after I'm mentoring, I would put there the time, etc., what was discussed, and I would know, "Oh, I I have met this one," because it's listed there. And I would also see the other mentors strictly speaking. That's what I liked.)

But then, but during the time na nasira 'yon, (that it broke down,) OSM already told the mentors, "We have a Google Form. Fill this up, etc." So, you have a number of mentors using the Google Form. Ako naman, (Me on the other hand,) I continued using this, kasi I believe this is a better, ano, it's easier for me, etc., and I I'm used to that, and... But also, as a coordinator, kung ito 'yung gagamitin, medyo nakikita ko 'yung other, how they are doing. But now, wala. So etc. So ano na lang, (if this is what is used, I somewhat see the others, how they are doing. But now, nothing. So etc. So it's just,) it's just that, because of this requirement, chances are, mas tataas 'yung ano ngayon. Bakit? Kasi ginawang required, eh. (the numbers will be higher now. Why? Because it was made required.) Although hindi naman strictly, meaning the last two weeks, "Okay, let's meet three times." Okay.
[48:38] Student 1: Yeah, but then...
[48:40] Dr. Olmos: It will be parang sayang 'yon, kasi the mentoring is supposed to help you throughout the semester of your stay here. But then it boils down to, if the student did not see clearly what the mentoring is all about, then it will not happen. (It will be like a waste, because the mentoring is supposed to help you throughout the semester of your stay here. But then it boils down to, if the student did not see clearly what the mentoring is all about, then it will not happen.)
[49:03] Student 1: I forgot my question.
[49:05] Dr. Olmos: Yeah, sige, any question? Walang problema. (Go ahead, any question? No problem.) Sige, itanong mo na 'yung nasa at the back of your head kanina. (Go ahead, ask what was at the back of your head earlier.)
[49:14] Student 1: You mentioned that if if a school doesn't have enough mentors for the students, is there a basis for which school you can refer the student to?
[49:28] Dr. Olmos: Wala naman. (None really.) Sometimes, uh, siguro parang (maybe like) the coordinator there, parang tatanong lang, (will just ask,) "Uh, is it possible for you?" Kasi kung minsan, (Because sometimes,) in the end, it's a it's a parang (like) there's nothing like an official thing, because even if, say, a mentor now, "Okay, I can handle ano," baka next sem, (what, maybe next sem,) it will be a different story. But it depends. But you see, all faculty, strictly speaking, all full-time, full-time, should should should allot part of their time mentoring, strictly speaking. But

'yun nga, sabi ko, kung minsan bago, or maybe kailangan a little orientation for this, hindi naman pwedeng as soon as... But sometimes, may gano'n, because maybe that person had experience already. Maybe was teaching part-time here and was handling one or two mentees. So no'ng full-time siya, okay, so walang problema, it's just a matter of adding or or gano'n-gano'n. Merong iba na, yeah, they learn it from another, uh, another place na also inspired by St. Josemaría, and essentially like PAREF schools. PAREF schools, Southridge schools, so they they do have mentoring. Galing sila do'n, maybe a graduate there, and then coming in as a teacher, alam niya 'yon, what is all about. (it's just a matter of adding or like that. There are others that, yeah, they learn it from another, uh, another place that's also inspired by St. Josemaría, and essentially like PAREF schools. PAREF schools, Southridge schools, so they they do have mentoring. They came from there, maybe a graduate there, and then coming in as a teacher, he knows that, what it's all about.)

[50:56] Student 1: You guys have any more?

[50:58] Student 3: Wala na po. (None anymore, sir.)

[50:58] Student 1: Okay na? (All okay?)

[50:59] Dr. Olmos: Ha, talaga? But so... (Huh, really? But so...)

[51:02] Student 3: Most of the questions are answered.

[51:06] Student 1: Yes.

[51:07] Dr. Olmos: So, but this is just parang getting to know more about the mentoring coordinator, gano'n ba 'yon? (like getting to know more about the mentoring coordinator, is it like that?)

[51:12] Student 1: Getting the perspective, basically.

[51:14] Dr. Olmos: Ah, the perspective.

[51:15] Student 1: Yes, yes po. Kasi, uh, well, we already met with the OSM twice na, and we already have some a paper already on on their perspective naman. But Sir Pira wants us to expand a bit more on our paper scope to try and include the what the mentoring coordinators and mentors want for the program. And then siguro from what we can what we could try to get from there might be useful in developing a strategy for the OSM to use. (Yes, yes, sir. Because, uh, well, we already met with the OSM twice already, and we already have some a paper already on on their perspective as well. But Sir Pira wants us to expand a bit more on our paper scope to try and include the what the mentoring coordinators and mentors want for the program. And then maybe from what we can what we could try to get from there might be useful in developing a strategy for the OSM to use.)

[51:50] Student 2: 'Yun. 'Yun. No more? (That's it. That's it. No more?)

[51:53] Student 1: I think that's all for po, sir. (That's all, sir.)

[51:55] Dr. Olmos: Okay, okay. (Laughter)
